EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The FAA grounded all US flights for about four hours Friday afternoon, 13 NOV, after overloaded switches and routers disrupted radar and radio links at the regional air traffic control centers; it was the longest nationwide ground stop since 9/11. Airspace reopened at about 1915 CST, and nearly 10,000 flights had been canceled by late evening (Reuters/Flightradar24), including 126 of 428 MSP departures (Star Tribune/Cirium). DHS Secretary Mullin said there is “zero evidence” so far of a cyberattack. Microsoft said Saturday that Microsoft 365 is fully restored after an Exchange Online outage of more than 24 hours. On Iran, Trump told Stephen A. Smith that Gulf states asked him to hold off on further strikes and that “It would only take me three days,” while Rubio said economic pain means “there’s no need for military action.” CENTCOM said it shot down both IRGC drones aimed at Bahrain with no damage. Iran claims at least five tankers have hit mines near Hormuz in 24 hours and says it downed an MQ-1 over Qeshm; none of this is independently verified. UKMTO 204-26 reports a tanker hit in the engine room off Ra’s al Khaymah on 11 NOV. Qatar and Turkiye signed a mutual defense pact. Nvidia’s board says it has not yet picked a search firm; the FT reports it approached Arm’s Rene Haas. HSBC cut NVDA to hold, and the stock closed −2.0% at $162.85. October PPI rose 0.3% (6.5% year on year, the biggest since November 2022), and the 10-year yield is about 5.14%. Brent settled at $95.84 and WTI at $88.56. Sheinbaum said no caravan is moving toward the US. Zelenskyy said the prisoner swap would involve 1,200 to 1,300 people per side. Peltola reached 49.8% in Alaska, and incoming MN Sen. Peggy Flanagan endorsed Van Hollen against Schumer. MN regular gas is $3.7286 and diesel $5.8630 (AAA, 14 NOV); gold is $3,883.40 bid (Kitco); debt is $40.609T (12 NOV).

ITEM 1: Aviation — FAA Nationwide Ground Stop of About Four Hours After ATC Communications Failure; About 10,000 Cancellations; No Evidence of Cyberattack So Far

WHAT / WHERE / WHEN

On Friday, 13 NOV, the FAA “issued a nationwide ground stop for all U.S. airports following communication issues impacting multiple Air Route Traffic Control Centers” (FAA statement). Transportation Secretary Sean Duffy said the trouble began at 3:36 p.m. (about 1436 CST, assuming ET as reported), when the centers saw instability in radar and communications systems: “Our switches, our routers actually got overloaded with data and they started to give us inconsistencies in the data from those routers and because of that we shut the system down.” He said radar and communications were never completely lost and planes landed safely. Airspace reopened at 8:15 p.m. ET (1915 CST), with departures resuming gradually: “It’s going to be slow” (Reuters). Reuters called it the longest shutdown since the 11 SEP 2001 attacks; the only other nationwide ground stop since then was about 90 minutes in January 2023. By 11:30 p.m. nearly 10,000 flights had been canceled, including more than 2,200 each at Delta and American and 1,800 at United (Flightradar24 via Reuters). Fox News reported more than 7,000 flights delayed or canceled while the stop was still in effect, and TimcastNews reported that Eurocontrol suspended Europe-to-US departures at the FAA's request (single source; see quarantine). The Star Tribune said the problem affected communications between controllers and about 3,500 aircraft in the air across all 22 regional centers. Duffy and Mullin said the problems surfaced when new technology being installed was integrated with the old system (Star Tribune), and two airline officials told Reuters the affected network, which carries controller-pilot radio frequencies, is overseen by L3Harris (L3Harris did not comment). Mullin said there is "zero evidence" so far of a cyberattack or a rogue AI system but neither is ruled out, that "It appears this was mechanically driven," and that NSA is working with DHS. On a possible link to the Microsoft outage, Mullin said, "I don't see any reason to connect those two at all" (Fox News). Duffy called for $50 billion to rebuild the system; earlier Friday the White House and DOT had asked Congress for $30.1 billion for airports and ATC (Reuters). Airlines are not required to compensate stranded passengers because the FAA caused the failure. AAL, UAL and DAL fell 1% to 2% after hours, and JetBlue about 3% (Reuters). At MSP, 126 of 428 Friday departures were canceled (Cirium via Star Tribune), the Gophers football team could not leave for Saturday's game at Penn State, and the airport said it would take a day or more to clear the backlog. A search summary of the MSP flights page Saturday morning showed 43 departures and 80 arrivals canceled (not opened directly).

US IMPACT ASSESSMENT

A single communications failure halted the national airspace system for four hours, with recovery stretching into the weekend and the Thanksgiving travel run-up. Expect a push in the lame-duck Congress for ATC modernization money and questions about the L3Harris network and the integration of new equipment.

SOURCE SYNOPSIS

FAA statement (13 NOV, read directly); Reuters (13 NOV, read directly); Aviation Week (13 NOV, partial read); Star Tribune (13 NOV, read directly); AP (headlines/search excerpts; pages timed out); Fox News and TheBlaze X posts quoting Duffy and Mullin (13–14 NOV).

MEDIA FRAMING (RIGHT)

Tim Pool wrote that "this and Microsoft reek of cyber attack," and Timcast headlined "FEARS of Massive AI Cyberattack"; TheBlaze and Fox ran Duffy's remarks on "1980s little copper lines" and his blame on Congress for not funding a new system.

Reuters called it "the latest and most dramatic sign of strain" on an aging system short several thousand controllers; X users recirculated Trump's 2023 post blaming flight problems on the prior administration.

CONFIDENCE

HIGH on the ground stop, timing and stated cause. MODERATE on the L3Harris network link (two unnamed airline officials). LOW on any cyberattack theory (no evidence per DHS).

ITEM 2: Technology — Microsoft 365 Fully Restored After Outage of More Than 24 Hours; Exchange Online Cited; Insured Losses Put at $300M–$500M

WHAT / WHERE / WHEN

Microsoft said on Saturday, 14 NOV, that services had fully recovered across Teams, Outlook and other products: "We have completed our efforts to address the underlying issue of the incident and restored service to the remaining impacted customers and regions" (Microsoft on X via Reuters). Reports began climbing at about 1125 CST (1725 GMT) Thursday, 12 NOV (Ookla). Microsoft said the outage hit features tied to Exchange Online and that it was not aware of any malicious activity. Downdetector logged more than 7.4 million reports worldwide, peaking near 20,000 a minute. It disrupted government agencies from Australia and Japan to the United States, trading firms and airline customer communications; OpenAI and Anthropic had problems with Microsoft connectors, and Workhorse Group moved its results to 16 NOV. Morningstar DBRS estimated global insured losses at $300 million to $500 million. It is Microsoft's second 365 disruption this year, and Microsoft shares closed flat at $523.88 Friday (Reuters). A search summary of AP says Microsoft attributed the cause to a problem from an earlier network capacity upgrade that surfaced after a recent network change (AP page not opened).

US IMPACT ASSESSMENT	US businesses and agencies lost email and calendars for more than a business day, followed by the FAA failure Friday. Two consecutive days of major US infrastructure outages will drive resilience reviews, although officials say the two are unrelated.
SOURCE SYNOPSIS	Reuters via Investing.com (updated 14 NOV, read directly); AP (search excerpt); Fox News X post quoting Mullin (13 NOV).
MEDIA FRAMING (RIGHT)	TimcastNews said the meltdown "sparks fears of a devastating AI cyberattack" while noting Microsoft says there is no evidence of hackers.
MEDIA FRAMING (LEFT/MAINSTREAM)	AP framed it as showing "the risks of relying on a single technology provider for essential services."
CONFIDENCE	HIGH on restoration and scale. MODERATE on the root cause (AP via search summary only).

ITEM 3: Iran Policy — Trump: Gulf States Asked Him to Hold Off, "It Would Only Take Me Three Days"; Rubio: "No Need for Military Action"; Admits War Hurt GOP

WHAT / WHERE / WHEN	In an interview with Stephen A. Smith released Thursday night, 12 NOV, Trump said he "could end it immediately" but is acting "At the request of the nations that I'm looking to protect," adding: "Saudi Arabia has asked me to please just let it be the way it is now for a while because they're disintegrating," and naming Qatar, Kuwait, the UAE and Bahrain. "I'm not sure I agree with it." He said US strikes have largely spared Iran's bridges, electricity and energy and that "It would only take me three days. One day each." He said the Pickaxe Mountain site is one he "may do or may not do." He conceded the war may have been unpopular "because of the fact that the gasoline prices were higher" and that "short term, I guess it is tougher politically." He also said he spoke to Jensen Huang Wednesday and that Tim Cook "would be a great candidate to run Nvidia" (Jerusalem Post). On Friday, 13 NOV, Rubio told the Federalist Society convention that "the economic pain that we are inflicting on that regime is so great that there's no need for military action because we've weakened them so much," that victory means Iran never gets a nuclear weapon, and that the war has caused "economic pain" for Americans (AP via Arab News; transcript). Rubio also said "people are struggling" and that the health of the economy "has nothing to do with the stock market" (AP). The Washington Post summarized the approach as "No new war, no talks, no lasting peace." At the UN Security Council, Iran's deputy envoy said any response to renewed hostilities would be "directed against the source of aggression, wherever it may be," and Iran told the IAEA that monitoring talks cannot continue under military threat (TBS citing Arab News). No new Vance statement on the fraud assignment was found; Glenn Beck wrote that moving Vance from Iran to domestic corruption is "a massive strategic win for him."
US IMPACT ASSESSMENT	The administration is settling on a sustained blockade and economic pressure instead of a deal or new major strikes, which keeps oil supply risk and Gulf force-protection risk open-ended. Trump's comments put the decision on escalation partly in Gulf partners' hands.
SOURCE SYNOPSIS	Jerusalem Post (13 NOV, read directly); Arab News/AP (13 NOV, search excerpt); Singju Post transcript of Rubio's remarks (search excerpt); AP on Rubio (search excerpt); Washington Post (13 NOV, headline and subhead only, paywalled); The Business Standard (14 NOV, search excerpt); Glenn Beck X post (13 NOV).
MEDIA FRAMING (RIGHT)	Fox and TheBlaze focused on Rubio's speech lines on immigration, the ICC and Americans' "moral right to exist as a distinct nation"; Beck praised Vance's new role.
MEDIA FRAMING (LEFT/MAINSTREAM)	AP led with Rubio acknowledging "people are struggling" after the "GOP midterm wipeout"; NPR described a "Gulf in limbo."

CONFIDENCE	HIGH on quoted statements. LOW on what follows.

ITEM 4: Gulf — CENTCOM Denies Bahrain Radar Hit; Iran Claims Five Tanker Mine Strikes in 24 Hours and an MQ-1 Over Qeshm; UKMTO 204-26; Qatar–Turkiye Defense Pact; Israel Cabinet Sunday

WHAT / WHERE / WHEN	CENTCOM said on 13 NOV: “The IRGC launched two one-way attack drones toward Bahrain and both were shot down by US forces. There were no injuries or damage.” The IRGC had claimed it “targeted and destroyed” a US early-warning radar in Bahrain in retaliation for an “enemy” strike on a telecom tower in Sirik; CENTCOM did not address Sirik (RFE/RL; Al Jazeera; Iran International). CENTCOM also said it is still enforcing the naval blockade (Al Jazeera). Early Saturday, 14 NOV, the IRGC Navy said two oil tankers, one a supertanker, with transponders off “exploded and caught fire after striking a naval mine” on an unauthorized route in the south of the strait, and Iran’s regular navy said another tanker hit a mine east of the strait (CNA/AFP). Al Jazeera counts five such incidents in 24 hours, including Friday’s IRGC-claimed LNG/LPG carrier mine strike, for which the IRGC released smoke footage. No names or flags were given, and the claims are unverified; the US military says it has cleared the main routes of mines (CNA). The IRGC also says it destroyed a US MQ-1 Predator over Qeshm Island (Al Jazeera; Iran International); no US response was found. UKMTO warning 204-26 (dated 12 NOV) reports a verified, time-late attack on 11 NOV at 1800 UTC, 14 nautical miles northwest of Ra’s al Khaymah, UAE: a tanker “struck by an unknown projectile in the engine room,” no casualties, crew evacuated, firefighting ongoing (UKMTO PDF). No later UKMTO warning was found. UKMTO says Hormuz traffic is about 65% below prewar levels, and the UN counts 134 confirmed maritime incidents since February, with 25 seafarers killed and October the worst month (Investing.com/Reuters). The Houthis claimed missile strikes on Riyadh airport and the East-West pipeline and an attack on Saudi forces in Jazan; Saudi Arabia had not confirmed (Investing.com; The National). Qatar, host of Al Udeid Air Base, and Turkiye signed a mutual defense agreement in Istanbul on 13 NOV committing to “a common position against external armed attacks” on either country; the communique gave no trigger or response details and called for “the swift and full resumption” of Hormuz passage (Al Jazeera; Turkish MFA). Israel’s security cabinet meets Sunday, 15 NOV, for the first time since early October to review preparations for a possible strike on Iran (Jerusalem Post; Anadolu, search excerpts).
US IMPACT ASSESSMENT	Iran is testing US defenses in Bahrain while using unverifiable mine claims to deter tanker traffic, which keeps insurance and freight costs high even as Gulf exports recover. A Qatar–Turkiye pact adds a NATO member’s defense commitment to a country hosting the largest US base in the region. Sunday’s Israeli cabinet meeting is the next escalation marker.
SOURCE SYNOPSIS	RFE/RL, Al Jazeera, Arab News/AFP and Iran International (13 NOV, search excerpts with full text); CNA/AFP (14 NOV, search excerpt); Al Jazeera live blog (14 NOV, read directly, headlines only); UK Fact Check live blog (14 NOV, search excerpt); UKMTO 204-26 PDF (read directly); Investing.com (14 NOV, search excerpt); Al Jazeera explainer on the pact (14 NOV, read directly); Jerusalem Post and Anadolu on the cabinet (search excerpts).
MEDIA FRAMING (RIGHT)	No new right-leaning Gulf coverage surfaced in monitored feeds; Fox and Blaze coverage was on Rubio and domestic stories.
MEDIA FRAMING (LEFT/MAINSTREAM)	Al Jazeera’s Tehran correspondent said this is the first time Iran has answered strikes on its telecom sites by attacking US assets in neighboring countries; Investing.com headlined that Iran’s mine claims come “as shipping crisis deepens.”
CONFIDENCE	HIGH on CENTCOM’s statement, UKMTO 204-26 and the pact signing. LOW on Iranian claims of mine strikes, a destroyed radar and an MQ-1 shootdown.

ITEM 5: Nvidia — Board Has Not Picked a Search Firm; FT Says Arm’s Rene Haas Approached; HSBC

Downgrade; Stock −2.0%

WHAT / WHERE / WHEN

Nvidia's board told CNBC on Friday, 13 NOV: "We are in the process of selecting a search firm for the Nvidia CEO role. We have not formally engaged any potential candidates," and called speculation about candidates "premature." The Financial Times reported the board approached Arm CEO Rene Haas (CNBC citing FT; FT paywalled). Reuters said other names include Nvidia's Ian Buck and AMD's Lisa Su (speculation), and described interim CEO Colette Kress, 59, as the executive who pushed back on Huang's riskier bets. CNBC said Kress held her first meeting as interim CEO with senior executives Thursday afternoon. HSBC analyst Frank Lee cut Nvidia to hold from buy with a $170 target, down from $365, saying "uncertainties will prevail until a permanent succession plan is laid out," and warning that tighter export restrictions could cut FY2028 EPS by 13% (CNBC). Xinhua gave the prior target as $360; CNBC's $365 is used here. Truist, Evercore ISI, William Blair, Oppenheimer and Bernstein also lowered ratings this week (CNBC). NVDA closed at $162.85, −2.01% (Investing.com table). Earnings remain set for Tuesday, 17 NOV, at about 1520 CST (Nvidia). Glenn Beck hosted Palantir co-founder Joe Lonsdale, who suggested the timing of Huang's fall right after the Democratic midterm win "may not be a coincidence."

US IMPACT ASSESSMENT

The leadership gap at the top US AI-chip maker is now a sell-side story, with analysts flagging export-control risk. Tuesday's earnings call is the first test of Kress as interim CEO.

SOURCE SYNOPSIS

CNBC (13 NOV, read directly, two stories); Reuters via Investing.com (12–13 NOV, search excerpt); Fortune and NPR (13 NOV, search excerpts); FT and Telegraph (headlines); Xinhua (14 NOV, search excerpt); Glenn Beck X post (14 NOV).

MEDIA FRAMING (RIGHT)

Beck and Lonsdale cast Huang's downfall as possibly politically timed.

Fortune said "the succession question remains," and NPR framed Kress as a "known quantity" facing "an exceptionally challenging time."

CONFIDENCE

HIGH on the board statement, downgrade and close. LOW on candidate reports.

ITEM 6: Economy — October PPI +0.3% (6.5% Year on Year); 10-Year Near 5.14%; Stocks Mixed but Best Week Since August; Oil Flat; IEA Sees Surplus; Jones Act Waiver Extended 90 Days

WHAT / WHERE / WHEN

The October PPI rose 0.3% (forecast 0.4%), but final demand was up 6.5% over 12 months, the largest since November 2022; core PPI rose 0.3% and 5.0% year on year, the highest since January 2023 (BLS via CNBC and Kiplinger). On Friday, 13 NOV, the Dow rose 50.46 (+0.1%) to 52,347.55, the S&P 500 fell 30.73 (−0.4%) to 7,561.67 and the Nasdaq fell 229.82 (−0.91%) to 25,136.27. For the week the S&P gained 2.5%, the Nasdaq 2.3% and the Dow 2.1%, their best weeks since early August (CNBC; Xinhua). AMD fell 8.75%, Broadcom 4.8% and Cisco 6.24% on margins and outlook; Cerebras rose 11.22% and Modine 27.86% on a report Samsung is in talks to buy it (Xinhua; Kiplinger). The 10-year Treasury yield rose nearly 4 basis points to about 5.14% (CNBC). FedWatch odds of a quarter-point December hike were put at 90% by Kiplinger (up from 85%) and about 87% by Xinhua. Brent settled at $95.84 (+$0.02) and WTI at $88.56 (−$0.18), both on track for about a 2.5% weekly drop after falling 16% and 13% last week (Reuters via Euronext). The IEA's November report says the world market is returning to surplus in the fourth quarter as Gulf exports recover; a search summary gives October supply of 105.4 million barrels a day and a 1.7 million barrel-a-day surplus (IEA report not opened). Trump extended the Jones Act waiver for 90 days effective 16 NOV, through 14 FEB 2027, letting foreign-flagged ships move oil and other commodities between US ports (Reuters via Investing.com; Argus, search excerpts). Gold spot is $3,883.40 bid (Kitco, 0715 CST 14 NOV). Next week: Nvidia earnings 17 NOV and the Anthropic IPO (Kiplinger).

US IMPACT ASSESSMENT

Wholesale inflation at its highest annual rate in nearly four years keeps a December hike and a 10-year above 5% in place, pressuring mortgages and housing. Flat crude and the waiver extension should keep pump prices easing into Thanksgiving.

SOURCE SYNOPSIS	CNBC live updates (13 NOV, search excerpt with full figures); Kiplinger (13 NOV, search excerpt); Xinhua (14 NOV, search excerpt); AP (headline/excerpt); Reuters via Euronext (13 NOV, read directly); Reuters via Investing.com on the IEA and the Jones Act (search excerpts); Kitco (14 NOV, page data).
MEDIA FRAMING (RIGHT)	No right-leaning market coverage surfaced in monitored feeds; Matt Walsh linked the debt passing $40.6 trillion to “neoconservative” policies (X summary).
MEDIA FRAMING (LEFT/MAINSTREAM)	CNBC framed PPI as a “welcome sign” that still showed the “biggest annual advance since November 2022”; Kiplinger quoted Fifth Third’s Chris Osmond: “it may not have cooled enough to give markets the rate relief they want.”
CONFIDENCE	HIGH on PPI, closes, yields and settlements. MODERATE on FedWatch (sources differ by 3 points) and IEA figures (search summary).

ITEM 7: Politics — Peltola at 49.8% With About 96% Counted; Van Hollen Picks Up Merkley and Flanagan; Brennan’s Son Charged

WHAT / WHERE / WHEN	Alaska: after more than 20,000 more ballots were counted Friday, 13 NOV (over 279,000 total), Democrat Mary Peltola had 49.8% of first-choice votes to Sen. Dan Sullivan’s 46.1% (Anchorage Daily News). AP estimates 96% counted but has not called the race, now the only unresolved Senate contest; a Peltola win would give Democrats 56 seats (Alaska Public Media). Peltola could avoid ranked-choice tabulation by passing 50%; otherwise tabulation is 18 NOV, and preliminary second-choice data favor her. Certification is set for 25 NOV. AP called the governor’s race for Democrat Jonathan Kreiss-Tomkins (50.8%). Rep. Nick Begich leads the House race 47.8% to 41.7%, and Ballot Measure 2 failed. DOJ is appealing the dismissal of its suit to block certification, and the US attorney has opened a criminal probe into recruitment of the second “Dan Sullivan” candidate (Alaska Public Media). Senate leadership: Axios counts 14 public backers for Schumer, including himself, and five for Van Hollen, with Sen. Jeff Merkley and incoming Minnesota Sen. Peggy Flanagan endorsing Van Hollen Friday, joining Sanders and Senator-elect Abdul El-Sayed. Van Hollen says he has “more than 10.” Angus King said, “Why would you fire the manager when you just won the World Series?” The secret-ballot vote is 01 DEC, and 28 or 29 votes are needed (Axios). DOJ: Kyle Brennan, son of former CIA Director John Brennan, was charged Friday in the Eastern District of Virginia with transportation of child pornography after the FBI found 88 images on his phone. The complaint says the case began in 2024 with a NCMEC tip, independently of the DOJ probe of his father; a detention hearing is set for next Wednesday (Reuters via NBC).
US IMPACT ASSESSMENT	Alaska is likely to set the Democratic Senate margin at 56. The Schumer–Van Hollen fight, now with a Minnesota senator on the insurgent side, will shape how the new majority confronts the White House.
SOURCE SYNOPSIS	Anchorage Daily News (13 NOV, read directly); Alaska Public Media (13 NOV, read directly); Axios (13 NOV, read directly); Washington Post and New Republic (headlines); Reuters via NBC (13 NOV, read directly); TimcastNews X post (14 NOV).
MEDIA FRAMING (RIGHT)	TimcastNews highlighted Daily Caller reporting on Brennan’s son’s arrest; BlazeTV’s Nick Freitas criticized John Thune for failing “to use his power.”
MEDIA FRAMING (LEFT/MAINSTREAM)	The Washington Post said “Few colleagues immediately embrace Van Hollen”; Alaska Public Media noted Peltola would be the first Indigenous Alaskan elected to the Senate.
CONFIDENCE	HIGH on Alaska percentages, endorsements and the Brennan charge. LOW on the Alaska outcome (vote margin in raw numbers not confirmed this run).

ITEM 8: Mexico — Sheinbaum: "There Is No Caravan Currently in Transit" Toward the US; No Tariff Order Issued

WHAT / WHERE / WHEN	At her Friday briefing, 13 NOV, Mexican President Claudia Sheinbaum said there are two caravans: "One dissolved while en route, and most of its members have already returned to their countries of origin, and another caravan is only just forming." She said, "There is no caravan currently in transit through our country on its way to the (US) border" (Reuters). The Christian Science Monitor reported renewed hope among migrants but "little chance of reaching US border." No order doubling tariffs had been issued as of this report. A New York Times headline says border crossings "have plummeted, but Stephen Miller isn't satisfied" (headline only).
US IMPACT ASSESSMENT	Mexico continues to defuse the tariff threat with a no-caravan message, which lowers the odds of an immediate tariff move, but USMCA uncertainty remains.
SOURCE SYNOPSIS	Reuters via Investing.com (13 NOV, read directly); CSMonitor (13 NOV, headline); NYT via Inquirer (headline).
MEDIA FRAMING (RIGHT)	No right-leaning coverage of Sheinbaum's statement surfaced in monitored feeds; Steven Crowder posted "ICE should take notes" on an unrelated clip.
MEDIA FRAMING (LEFT/MAINSTREAM)	Coverage was straight, quoting Sheinbaum's denial that any caravan is headed north.
CONFIDENCE	HIGH on Sheinbaum's statements. LOW on whether tariffs change.

ITEM 9: Russia–Ukraine — Zelenskyy: Swap of 1,200–1,300 Per Side; US Asked About Donbas Withdrawal for NATO Membership; Rejects Kostiantynivka "Humanitarian Mission"

WHAT / WHERE / WHEN	At a Kyiv news conference Saturday, 14 NOV, after trips to Denmark and Ireland, Zelenskyy said Ukraine and Russia are discussing a prisoner exchange of 1,200 to 1,300 people from each side, the "main outcome" of the Abu Dhabi talks. He said Russian delegates told Ukraine they lacked authority to decide on an energy ceasefire and that Putin has shown no readiness to meet. He dismissed Putin's Kostiantynivka "humanitarian mission," saying fighting is ongoing and Russia could then move on Kramatorsk and Sloviansk. Zelenskyy said the US side had, "for the first time," asked whether Kyiv would withdraw from Donbas in exchange for NATO membership. He said Ukraine will not voluntarily give up territory but would put such a proposal to the public if it came with NATO and EU guarantees, a funded military and reconstruction plan: "If the American side confirms exactly this to us, together with other NATO colleagues, then I will ask our society's opinion." He ruled out recognizing occupied territory or writing neutrality into the constitution, and said Kyiv expects Europe to choose its representatives for the next round by the end of November. Denmark announced €645 million in defense aid and €20 million for energy (Anadolu). AP reported the talks ended with no major breakthrough (headline). No new Kremlin readout or confirmation of a Trump–Putin meeting at APEC (18–19 NOV) was found this period.
US IMPACT ASSESSMENT	Zelenskyy's account, if accurate, shows Washington floating a land-for-NATO trade, which would be a major shift in US policy and alliance commitments. No US confirmation was found.
SOURCE SYNOPSIS	Anadolu (14 NOV, read directly); AP, JURIST, LIGA.net, Kyiv Post (headlines/search excerpts).
MEDIA FRAMING (RIGHT)	No right-leaning Ukraine coverage surfaced in monitored feeds this period.
MEDIA FRAMING (LEFT/MAINSTREAM)	AP framed the outcome as "a large prisoner exchange as talks end with no major breakthrough."
CONFIDENCE	HIGH on Zelenskyy's statements. LOW on the reported US Donbas–NATO question (Zelenskyy's account only).

ITEM 10: Incidents — Brooklyn Inquiry Widens to 160 Sites, Criminal Probe; Tanker Capsizes Docked

River Cruise Ship in New Orleans, All Accounted For; Starship Flight 15

WHAT / WHERE / WHEN

Brooklyn: on Friday, 13 NOV, Buildings Commissioner Ahmed Tigani said the city hired an engineering firm for an independent report and is examining 160 sites tied to the companies behind the excavation next to 1321 Flatbush Ave. Brooklyn DA Eric Gonzalez is pursuing a criminal investigation with the Buildings Department and the Department of Investigation. Council Member Farah Louis cited "nearly 100 open violations" at the collapsed building. The toll remains eight dead, ages 9 to 31, and 18 injured (NYT via Inquirer). Gothamist reports engineers questioning city-approved plans that lacked bracing next to the old building (headline/search excerpt). New Orleans: at about 1230 CST Friday, the tanker Atlantic Asphalt struck the docked river cruise ship American Heritage (American Cruise Lines), which capsized onto its side in the Mississippi. About 129 passengers plus crew were aboard; all are accounted for and 32 were hospitalized with non-critical injuries. The Coast Guard cited "some type of a loss of steering" (BBC). NTSB has opened investigation DCA27MM003 (NTSB page, search result). Space: SpaceX launched Starship Flight 15 from Starbase on Friday afternoon; the ship reached orbit and deployed 26 Starlink V3 satellites, and the booster catch was called off after a guidance problem and it splashed down in the Gulf (SpaceNews; Space.com, search excerpts). A ship catch attempt is planned 14 NOV.

US IMPACT ASSESSMENT

Mostly local. New Orleans river traffic was shut during the rescue; watch for NTSB findings and Mississippi River traffic impacts.

SOURCE SYNOPSIS

NYT via Philadelphia Inquirer (13 NOV, read directly); Gothamist and NY Post (headlines); BBC (14 NOV, read directly); NTSB and WDSU (search results); SpaceNews, Space.com, AP (search excerpts); Fox News X posts (13 NOV).

MEDIA FRAMING (RIGHT)

Fox repeated Mayor Moreno's "miracle on the Mississippi"; the NY Post's exclusive said the city approved nearby construction "despite red flags."

The NYT led with families "demanding answers" about "systemic failures."

CONFIDENCE

HIGH on tolls and the New Orleans rescue. MODERATE on Starship details (search excerpts).

ITEM 11: Minnesota — MSP Hit by Ground Stop; Flanagan Backs Van Hollen; Federal Medicaid Disallowance Context; MN-1 Canvass 19 NOV

WHAT / WHERE / WHEN

MSP: 126 of 428 Friday departures were canceled (Star Tribune/Cirium; see Item 1), and the Metropolitan Airports Commission said recovery would take a day or more. Senate: incoming Sen. Peggy Flanagan endorsed Chris Van Hollen against Schumer Friday morning (Axios; see Item 7). Federal fraud pressure: CMS announced on 06 NOV it will permanently deny about $113 million in Minnesota Medicaid reimbursements after finding 78 of 330 sampled high-risk claims deficient, while releasing about half of $259 million previously frozen. DHS says it is weighing a challenge (Star Tribune, 10 NOV; before this period, carried as context for the Vance fraud directive). No new White House or Vance action specific to Minnesota was found this period. Local headlines (not opened): the Minneapolis City Council rejected Mayor Frey's police chief nominee, and the BCA and Education Department are investigating Fridley Public Schools (Star Tribune). MN-1: the canvass and certification are 19 NOV, and Rep. Finstad is still expected to seek a recount (carried forward).

US IMPACT ASSESSMENT

Minnesota travelers face continued weekend disruption. The state's Medicaid dispute is the most concrete form so far of the federal fraud campaign Trump has pointed at Minnesota.

SOURCE SYNOPSIS

Star Tribune (13 NOV and 10 NOV, read directly); Axios (13 NOV, read directly); prior dailies for MN-1.

MEDIA FRAMING (RIGHT)

Glenn Beck framed Vance's anti-fraud role, which names Minnesota, as a political opportunity.

The Star Tribune noted the paperwork findings "do not, by themselves, establish that fraud occurred" and that state officials call the actions a "retribution campaign."

CONFIDENCE	HIGH on MSP figures and the Medicaid figures. LOW on next federal steps.

GAPS AND NOTES

Update to 13 NOV daily	the Microsoft outage ran more than 24 hours (not about 18) before Microsoft declared full recovery Saturday; the 13 NOV report caught early restoration only. UKMTO 204-26 (dated 12 NOV, 11 NOV attack) was not in the 13 NOV daily and is added here. The 13 NOV daily said FedWatch priced 100% odds of a December hike (CNBC); Friday’s sources put a quarter-point hike at 87–90%, and it was not confirmed whether the rest is priced as a half-point move or a hold.
Alaska	ADN and Alaska Public Media gave percentages but not the raw vote margin after Friday’s count; a search summary repeating 5,800 appears stale and is not used.
FAA start time	Reuters quotes Duffy’s 3:36 p.m. without a time zone; ET is assumed (1436 CST). The exact time the ground stop was issued was not confirmed (AP pages timed out).

– AP, Washington Post and FT pages timed out or were paywalled; their content is from search excerpts or headlines. The IEA report and EIA inventory tables were not opened.

– AAA’s Minnesota page was read directly (price as of 14 NOV); national figures from AAA’s national page. Gold is a weekend Kitco quote. Debt to the Penny’s latest record date is 12 NOV.
