EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The AP called Mississippi's Senate race for Democrat Scott Colom on Wednesday afternoon, 11 NOV; he leads Sen. Cindy Hyde-Smith by 4,669 votes, and she conceded by video ("I respect the decision of Mississippi voters"). Per AP figures, Democrats will hold 55 Senate seats in January, with Alaska still open; there Mary Peltola's lead narrowed to 3,975 after Wednesday's count, and her campaign declared victory. After the closing bell, the Wall Street Journal reported Nvidia's board was preparing to oust Jensen Huang following a New York Times report of a second affair, this one with an executive who reports to him; Semafor says some directors favor CFO Colette Kress as interim CEO. No board decision had been announced by this report's time. Nvidia closed up 2.87% at $173.73 but was down about 6% premarket. The White House counsel told incoming Oversight Chair Robert Garcia that Democratic probes "may cross the line into blatant criminality"; Jeffries called the letter "outrageous." Trump said at Arlington that the US has "won" in Iran and wants "total victory, not a 93 percent victory." Iran's Ghalibaf says "the ball is now in the American court" on Tehran's seven conditions and that Hormuz will "never return" to its prewar status. UKMTO issued warning 202-26, and the IRGC claims two more supertankers hit mines. Trump threatened this morning to "IMMEDIATELY" double tariffs on Mexico unless it stops migrant caravans. Witkoff and Kushner were meeting Putin at the Kremlin as of this report, with a Dublin meeting with Zelenskyy to follow. A Brooklyn building collapse has killed eight. MN regular gas is $3.7951 and diesel $5.9329 (AAA, 12 NOV); gold fell below $4,000 to $3,924 bid (Kitco); debt is $40.560T (09 NOV, latest posted).

ITEM 1: Elections — AP Calls Mississippi for Colom by 4,669; Hyde-Smith Concedes; Democrats to 55 Senate Seats; Peltola Lead Narrows to 3,975

WHAT / WHERE / WHEN

The Associated Press declared Democrat Scott Colom the winner of Mississippi's Senate race shortly before 1700 CST Wednesday, 11 NOV, after counties reported updated results, including affidavit (provisional) ballots (AP; WLBT). As of 1658 CST, Colom led Sen. Cindy Hyde-Smith 49.2% to 48.7%, a 4,669-vote margin out of 962,237 counted, with independent Ty Pinkins at 2.1% (WLBT; results tracker figures 473,336 to 468,667). Decision Desk HQ also called the race (1728 CST). Colom will be the first Democrat elected to the Senate from Mississippi since John C. Stennis and the state's first Black senator since Reconstruction (WLBT). Hyde-Smith conceded in a video on X: "While this is not the outcome we worked for or hoped for, I respect the decision of Mississippi voters. I want to congratulate Scott Colom and wish him well" (WLBT, full statement). AP figures give Democrats 55 Senate seats and Republicans 44 when the new Congress convenes, and 255 House seats to 168 (WLBT; NPR).

No Trump reaction to the call was found. Alaska: after about 6,000 more ballots were counted Wednesday evening, Democrat Mary Peltola leads Sen. Dan Sullivan 121,487 (48.9%) to 117,512 (47.3%), a 3,975-vote lead, down 275 from Tuesday, as absentee ballots from Republican-leaning regions came in. Peltola's campaign posted that she "will be Alaska's next United States Senator." Sullivan spokesperson Nate Adams said, "With tens of thousands of ballots still to be counted, there's a long way to go," and that the campaign looks forward to "a complete and accurate count." Gerald Heikes has 5,426 votes (2.2%) and the Petersburg Dan J. Sullivan 4,100 (1.6%). Counting continues through 18 NOV, when ranked-choice tabulation would follow if no one tops 50%; certification is 25 NOV. Democrat Jonathan Kreiss-Tomkins leads for governor with 49.6%, Rep. Nick Begich (R) leads the House race 49% to 40.9% over independent Bill Hill, and the measure to repeal ranked-choice voting is failing with 52.5% against (Anchorage Daily News). An Alaska judge also rejected a Peltola campaign request for absentee ballot records as "not reasonable" (AP; Fox News, headlines).

US IMPACT ASSESSMENT

The Mississippi flip widens the incoming Democratic Senate majority to at least 55, which affects confirmations, investigations, and the reach of a filibuster debate in January. Alaska's ranked-choice tabulation on 18 NOV could still decide whether that majority reaches 56.

SOURCE SYNOPSIS

WLBT (11 NOV, read directly, including the concession text); AP "Why AP called" and NPR (11 NOV, search excerpts); DDHQ results page (search excerpt); Anchorage Daily News (11 NOV, read directly); AP and Fox News on the Alaska ballot-records ruling (headlines).

MEDIA FRAMING (RIGHT)

Fox News posted that Colom flipped a seat "in a state President Trump won by 20 points in 2024"; TheBlaze posted the projection without comment. Tim Pool argued that young men "swung 38 POINTS towards the Democrats" because of housing costs and gas prices from the Iran war.

NPR emphasized that the win "expands the majority Democrats will have in the new Congress to 55 seats"; ADN described a "national GOP implosion" driven by voter anger, including over "the costly Iran war."

CONFIDENCE

HIGH on the Mississippi call, margin and concession. HIGH on Alaska tallies (state preliminary results via ADN). LOW on the Alaska outcome.

ITEM 2: Nvidia — WSJ: Board Preparing to Oust Huang After Second Affair Report; Kress Floated as Interim; Stock Up 2.9%, Then Down About 6% Premarket

WHAT / WHERE / WHEN

On Wednesday evening, 11 NOV, the New York Times reported that Jensen Huang had a second extramarital affair, with an Nvidia executive who reports to him; on Sunday he had acknowledged an affair with a woman US intelligence reportedly believes is a Chinese spy (TechCrunch). The Wall Street Journal then reported, citing people familiar, that Nvidia's board was preparing to oust Huang and would meet as soon as Wednesday (Reuters via Euronext; TechCrunch). Semafor reported that some directors favor CFO Colette Kress as interim CEO, that the full board had not decided, and that the board briefed the White House on its meeting, according to a senior administration official. Bloomberg reported Nvidia hired an outside search firm, and Semafor said Apple hardware chief Johny Srouji is among those being considered. As of this report no leadership change or board statement had been announced (Investing.com, 0548 CST). Sens. Chris Coons and Elizabeth Warren asked Commerce Secretary Lutnick, Secretary of State Rubio and chief of staff Stephen Miller to preserve documents on Nvidia chip exports to China, on Megaspeed, and on Huang's communications with Trump, writing that the case "raises significant concerns about the federal government's ability to effectively enforce our export controls" (Semafor). Nvidia closed Wednesday at $173.73, up $4.84 (+2.87%) (Nvidia investor site), then fell about 8% after hours to a 52-week low (Semafor; Reuters) and was down about 5.6% to more than 6% premarket Thursday (Yahoo Finance; Investing.com). Elon Musk posted that hiring Huang "would be an honor" (TechCrunch).

US IMPACT ASSESSMENT

A forced exit of the CEO of the most important AI-chip maker, with no obvious successor, is a major risk for AI-heavy indexes and retirement accounts. Nvidia's 17 NOV earnings and Anthropic's IPO next week now land in that uncertainty, and the export-control questions give the incoming Democratic Congress an early oversight target.

WSJ, NYT and Bloomberg were not read directly.

MEDIA FRAMING (RIGHT)

TheBlaze headlined "NVIDIA CEO JENSEN HUANG ALLEGED TO HAVE HAD ANOTHER AFFAIR WITH COMPANY EXEC"; TimcastNews posted the WSJ report as "BREAKING," and Tim Pool's show used Rep. Ro Khanna's Nvidia stock trades to call for a congressional trading ban.

Semafor called Nvidia "beleaguered" and led on the export-control letter; Reuters quoted a money manager asking, "can someone step up if Jensen has to resign or is forced out?"

CONFIDENCE

HIGH that the reports were published and on market moves. MODERATE on the board's intent and the interim-CEO candidates (anonymous sources; no company confirmation).

ITEM 3: Washington — White House Counsel Warns Democratic Probes May Be "Blatant Criminality"; Jeffries: "Outrageous"; Trump at Arlington Defends Iran War and Arch

WHAT / WHERE / WHEN

In a letter dated Monday, 09 NOV, and shared with reporters Wednesday, 11 NOV, White House counsel Will Scharf told Rep. Robert Garcia (D-Calif.), who is expected to chair House Oversight in January, that the administration is "monitoring" Democrats' "abusive and capricious threats" and that "threats to executive branch officials designed to deter them from public service, or process designed merely to abuse or instill fear in the recipient may cross the line into blatant criminality" (NBC; PBS published the letter). Scharf cited Rep. Analilia Mejia's post, "We're going to toss out subpoenas like Mardi Gras beads." Garcia replied, "It appears Donald Trump has something to hide. … Congress' authority comes from Article I of the Constitution, not from the permission of the White House." Likely Speaker Hakeem Jeffries called the letter "outrageous" and "legally inaccurate" (NBC). The New York Post tied the letter to new chief of staff Stephen Miller's "aggressive approach" and carried a headline that the Justice Department warned Sen. Richard Blumenthal over a probe of Trump ballroom donors (headline only, not read). At Arlington National Cemetery on Veterans Day, Trump laid a wreath at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier and said of Iran, "We won. It's just a question of when we end it. I want to make sure we have a total victory, not a 93 percent victory." He also said, "We're not going to allow anyone to hurt or damage our country with bad foolish horrible ideology," which the Post read as aimed at the incoming Democratic majority. He praised Defense Secretary Hegseth to cheers and said, "We're going to dedicate a magnificent triumphal arch to our veterans" (New York Post). Nine Kennedy family members joined a lawsuit Tuesday to block the 250-foot arch, saying it would cast a shadow over JFK's grave; a federal judge has paused construction for 14 days while suits proceed (Washington Post; BBC; CNN; NY Post).

US IMPACT ASSESSMENT

The White House is signaling it will treat aggressive oversight as potentially criminal, setting up subpoena fights and possible court battles over congressional authority from January on. The arch is becoming a court and congressional-approval fight.

SOURCE SYNOPSIS

NBC News (11 NOV, read directly); PBS, CBS, AP and USA Today (11 NOV, headlines/search excerpts); New York Post (11 NOV, read directly); Washington Post, BBC, CNN, Guardian, Time on the Kennedy suit (10–11 NOV, headlines/search excerpts); White House release on the Arlington remarks (headline).

MEDIA FRAMING (RIGHT)	The New York Post headlined that Trump issued a warning to “horrible” Democrats and ran a companion piece saying Democrats risk “overplaying anti-Trump lawfare”; TheBlaze posted Trump’s line that “America did not start a war with Iran. Iran has been waging war on America since 1979.”
MEDIA FRAMING (LEFT/MAINSTREAM)	NBC noted that “the suggestion of a congressional probe constituting criminality is not” commonplace; The Independent said Trump “hijacks Veterans Day speech” to make his case for the war and the arch.
CONFIDENCE	HIGH.

ITEM 4: Iran — Ghalibaf: “Ball Is Now in the American Court,” Hormuz Will “Never Return” to Prewar Status; Rezaei on Enriched Material; Iran Struck Oman’s Didamar Navigation Aids

WHAT / WHERE / WHEN	In an Al Jazeera interview published Wednesday, 11 NOV, Iran’s parliament speaker and chief negotiator Mohammad Bagher Ghalibaf said Tehran sent the US a “clear response” through a Qatari mediator containing its seven conditions and is waiting for an official reply: “The ball is now in the American court.” The conditions he listed include lifting the naval blockade and sanctions, releasing frozen funds, ending fighting on all fronts, and an explicit announcement that the war is over, which he said were part of the June Islamabad memorandum. He said Iran and Oman reached an understanding to oversee Hormuz, that “There are no ‘free waters’ there,” and that the strait will “never return” to its prewar status. He also claimed US officials asked Putin to mediate direct talks, and warned that new US attacks would bring Trump “another defeat” and pressure from the new Congress (Al Jazeera). Security chief Mohsen Rezaei said Iran would not let “a single particle” of enriched nuclear material leave the country; Washington says nuclear issues must be part of initial talks (CNBC/Reuters). Three sources confirmed to Reuters that Iran attacked ship navigation systems on Oman’s Didamar (Little Quoin) Island, which the IRGC claimed Tuesday; Reuters could not determine damage, shipping sources said the impact on traffic is likely limited, and ISW dated the strike to 08 NOV (Reuters via Investing.com; Fox News). Reuters said Gulf oil exports recovered to over 80% of prewar levels in September and October with US-assisted transits and Saudi exports via Yanbu.
US IMPACT ASSESSMENT	Iran is publicly treating the next move as Washington’s and is asserting a permanent joint Iran–Oman regime over Hormuz, which conflicts with US freedom-of-navigation policy. The gap on nuclear sequencing makes a quick reopening unlikely, keeping fuel prices exposed.
SOURCE SYNOPSIS	Al Jazeera Ghalibaf interview (11 NOV, read directly); CNBC/Reuters oil report (12 NOV, read directly); Reuters via Investing.com (11 NOV, search excerpt); Fox News citing Reuters, Fars and ISW (11 NOV, search excerpt); Türkiye Today, Anadolu and Iran International (12 NOV, headlines).
MEDIA FRAMING (RIGHT)	Fox News framed the Didamar strike as Iran escalating “Hormuz claims” while “CENTCOM maintains its blockade”; TheBlaze highlighted a new Democratic member who “refuses to call Iran an adversary.”
MEDIA FRAMING (LEFT/MAINSTREAM)	Al Jazeera led with Ghalibaf’s “never return” line; Reuters stressed Tehran’s “ability to target infrastructure used to restore Gulf oil flows.”
CONFIDENCE	HIGH on on-record statements and the Didamar attack. LOW on Ghalibaf’s claim that US officials asked Putin to mediate and on the claimed Iran–Oman understanding (Iranian claims; no Omani or US confirmation found).

ITEM 5: Gulf Shipping — UKMTO 202-26 Tanker Incident in Hormuz; IRGC Claims Two Supertankers Disabled by Mines; At Least 10 Ships Hit So Far in November

WHAT / WHERE / WHEN	UKMTO issued warning 202-26 on Wednesday, 11 NOV, reporting a tanker incident in the Strait of Hormuz, based on military authorities and classified as “Suspicious Activity,” with crew status, damage and environmental impact unknown, less than a day after warning 201-

26 (tanker struck by a projectile 19 nautical miles northeast of Lima, Oman) (Rudaw; UKMTO listing). Neither vessel has been identified. Iran's Revolutionary Guards Navy said Thursday that two oil supertankers were disabled by "massive explosions" after hitting naval mines while using an "unauthorised route" Wednesday night (CNBC/Reuters); this is not independently confirmed. Reuters said tankers "are still ablaze" and oil spills are reaching Oman's coast. According to Washington Institute data, at least 10 ships were hit in the first 10 days of November after 37 attacks in October, the highest monthly total of the war. The IMO has confirmed 133 incidents in the region since late February, with at least 25 seafarers killed. US Central Command said a US military aircraft fired on and disabled a St. Kitts-flagged cargo ship that tried to leave regional waters after visiting an Iranian port on Saturday, 07 NOV (Reuters via Investing.com). The ADNOC vessel damaged on 10 NOV remains unidentified (Rudaw).

US IMPACT ASSESSMENT

Attacks continue even as crude prices fall, so the risk premium in diesel and jet fuel persists, and US forces enforcing the blockade remain in direct contact with shipping.

SOURCE SYNOPSIS

MEDIA FRAMING (RIGHT)

No right-leaning Gulf shipping coverage surfaced in monitored feeds this period.

Reuters framed it as "Tankers burn in the Middle East despite hopes for de-escalation."

CONFIDENCE

HIGH on UKMTO, IMO and CENTCOM items. LOW on the IRGC mine claims.

ITEM 6: Economy — Stocks Rally on CoreWeave, Then Nvidia Drags Futures; Markets Price ~89% Odds of December Hike; Gold Below $4,000; EIA Oil Data Thursday

WHAT / WHERE / WHEN

On Wednesday, 11 NOV (bond market closed for Veterans Day), the Dow rose 254.60 (+0.49%) to 52,486.49, the S&P 500 rose 98.45 (+1.31%) to 7,619.38, and the Nasdaq rose 400.31 (+1.60%) to 25,466.19, led by tech after CoreWeave jumped 24.7% on guidance that it expects to become profitable in 2028 (Reuters via Euronext). AP said the S&P 500 is within 2.6% of last month's record. After Tuesday's hot CPI, CME FedWatch priced an 88.8% chance of a 25-basis-point hike at the 08–09 DEC FOMC and an 11.2% chance of 50 basis points, with no chance of a hold, up from about 72% for a hike a week earlier (Investing.com, 10 NOV). Philadelphia Fed President Anna Paulson, a voter, backed "further gradual tightening," and Governor Waller said the Fed should hike in December (Investing.com). At 0432 CST Thursday, Dow E-minis were +0.12%, S&P 500 E-minis −0.31%, and Nasdaq-100 E-minis −0.64% (Investing.com); by 0639 CST, Yahoo Finance had S&P futures −0.4% and Nasdaq-100 futures −0.8%. MSCI will remove Strategy (MSTR) and other fund-like companies from its indexes (Strategy −5% premarket), and Eli Lilly gained 2.8% on Chinese approval of its weight-loss pill orforglipron (Investing.com). Brent was $92.39 (−0.4%) and WTI $86.16 at 0346 CST; OPEC+ output rose in October; EIA weekly inventory data are due Thursday, a day late for the holiday (CNBC/Reuters). Gold spot fell $62.80 (−1.58%) to $3,924.20 bid (Kitco, 0722 CST). Anthropic's IPO is expected next week (Yahoo Finance).

US IMPACT ASSESSMENT

A December hike is now the market's base case, which keeps mortgage, auto and credit-card rates rising into 2027. Equity gains stay fragile and depend heavily on the AI trade, which the Nvidia turmoil is testing directly.

SOURCE SYNOPSIS

Reuters via Euronext (11 NOV, search excerpt); AP (11 NOV, search excerpt); Yahoo Finance live blogs (11–12 NOV, read directly); Investing.com FedWatch (10 NOV) and premarket movers (12 NOV), read directly; CNBC/Reuters oil (12 NOV, read directly); Kitco (12 NOV, page data).

MEDIA FRAMING (RIGHT)

No right-leaning coverage of rates or markets surfaced in monitored feeds this period beyond the Nvidia posts in Item 2.

MEDIA FRAMING (LEFT/MAINSTREAM)	Yahoo Finance said the Nvidia “tumult” puts “even more pressure for everything to go right” for Anthropic’s debut; AP framed Wednesday as Wall Street nearly erasing last week’s AI sell-off.
CONFIDENCE	HIGH.

ITEM 7: Border and Trade — Trump Threatens to “IMMEDIATELY” Double Tariffs on Mexico Over Caravans; Urges Senate GOP to Pass SAVE America Act

WHAT / WHERE / WHEN	In a Truth Social post Thursday morning, 12 NOV, Trump wrote, “Here we go again! With the perceived loss by the Republicans in the Midterms - I WAS NOT ON THE BALLOT- the INVASION of our Country is taking place again,” and “MEXICO MUST STOP THEM, NOW, and if they do not do so, the Tariffs on Mexico will be IMMEDIATELY DOUBLED,” adding that Mexico, “THE VERY LIBERAL NEW GOVERNOR OF TEXAS,” Border Patrol and ICE “HAVE BEEN SO INFORMED. There will be no leniency!” (Fox News). An estimated 1,500 migrants, mostly Central American, left Tapachula near the Guatemalan border on Tuesday (Fox News). No tariff rate, effective date or legal basis was stated, and no Mexican government response was found as of this report. Fox reported that Texas Attorney General-elect Nathan Johnson (D) could drop the state’s defense of the SB4 border-arrest law after taking office 01 JAN 2027. Separately, Trump posted that “The Republican Senate can no longer be the place where things go to die. Not passing the SAVE America Act was devastating to the Republican Party in the Midterms” (TheBlaze), and reportedly urged ending the filibuster (Mediaite, search excerpt). The bill has not passed the Senate and lacks 60 votes (Delaware Online).
US IMPACT ASSESSMENT	Doubling tariffs on the largest US trading partner would raise prices on autos, produce and other goods just as inflation is running hot. The threat also sets up an early clash with Texas’s incoming Democratic officials over border enforcement.
SOURCE SYNOPSIS	Fox News (12 NOV, read directly, quoting the Truth Social post); Bloomberg Law, Infobae, Anadolu, CNBC TV18 (12 NOV, headlines); TheBlaze X post (12 NOV); Mediaite and Delaware Online (11–12 NOV, search excerpts).
MEDIA FRAMING (RIGHT)	TheBlaze and Fox News posted the threat as “BREAKING,” with TheBlaze leading on “There will be no leniency!”; Florida AG James Uthmeier told Fox that “we can’t entertain amnesty.”
MEDIA FRAMING (LEFT/MAINSTREAM)	Anadolu headlined “alleged migrant caravans”; Bloomberg Law framed it as a tariff threat on Mexican goods. Little other mainstream coverage had posted by report time.
CONFIDENCE	HIGH on the post’s text. LOW on whether or when tariffs would change.

ITEM 8: Russia–Ukraine — Witkoff and Kushner Meet Putin at the Kremlin; Swap of More Than 1,000 Each Expected in Two to Three Weeks; Dublin Meeting With Zelenskyy Next

WHAT / WHERE / WHEN	Steve Witkoff and Jared Kushner began talks with Vladimir Putin at the Kremlin on Thursday, 12 NOV, at about 0615 CST (Kremlin posting time 1515 Moscow), joined by Yuri Ushakov, Vladimir Medinsky and Kirill Dmitriev (Ukrainska Pravda citing the Kremlin and Interfax; Kremlin.ru). It is Witkoff’s 10th in-person meeting with Putin (Reuters via Straits Times). Asked whether peace was closer, Witkoff said, “I hope so.” RIA reported that Putin asked the envoys to assess prospects for further contacts based on the Abu Dhabi talks. The envoys are due in Dublin later Thursday to meet Zelenskyy, who said Wednesday he hopes for a result by the end of the year (Reuters via Straits Times). On the prisoner exchange, Kushner said numbers would be finalized Thursday; TASS quoted Russian Lt. Gen. Alexander Zorin as saying it would involve more than 1,000 prisoners on each side within two to three weeks (The Independent; tagesschau; Al Jazeera). Kushner said “we are pushing a boulder uphill” toward a Putin–Zelenskyy meeting and that territory remains the hardest issue (Euronews; Al Jazeera). Reuters said Ukrainian drone strikes on Russian refineries have caused renewed fuel shortages in some Russian regions this week.

US IMPACT ASSESSMENT	The Kremlin readout and the Dublin meeting will show whether the administration's push has any give on territory. A large swap is the only concrete deliverable so far.
SOURCE SYNOPSIS	Kremlin.ru and RIA (12 NOV, read directly; headline-level content only); Ukrainska Pravda (12 NOV, search excerpt); Reuters via Straits Times (12 NOV, search excerpt); AP (12 NOV, partial read); The Independent, tagesschau, Al Jazeera, Interfax-Ukraine, Euronews (11–12 NOV, search excerpts).
MEDIA FRAMING (RIGHT)	Fox News posted video of the envoys "on the move in Moscow" as "another high-stakes meeting with Vladimir Putin gets underway."
MEDIA FRAMING (LEFT/MAINSTREAM)	Reuters noted Trump "has frequently predicted breakthroughs that have not materialised"; Al Jazeera quoted an analyst that swaps happen regularly "without this level of diplomatic work."
CONFIDENCE	HIGH that the meeting is underway. LOW on its outcome (no readout yet) and on final swap numbers.

ITEM 9: New York — Brooklyn Building Collapse Kills Eight, Injures 17; Adjacent Excavation Under Scrutiny

WHAT / WHERE / WHEN	A three-story residential building on Flatbush Avenue in Brooklyn's Flatbush section collapsed at about 1500 CST (4 p.m. ET) Wednesday, 11 NOV, at the edge of an excavated construction lot. Mayor Zohran Mamdani said Thursday morning, "Eight New Yorkers have now lost their lives and at least 17 have been injured, including three firefighters." Four people are critical, and at least seven children were among the victims; it is not clear whether any of the dead are minors. About 250 FDNY responders are working with drones, dogs and an excavator, and heavy rain was forecast Thursday afternoon (The Guardian/AP). NY1 reported the city recorded multiple problems at the neighboring project in May, including work during a stop-work order and lack of overhead protection, and almost 100 housing violations at the collapsed building since 1972. The Department of Buildings is investigating the cause (The Guardian citing NY1).
US IMPACT ASSESSMENT	Mainly a local tragedy, but it is an early test for the Mamdani administration on building safety enforcement and is likely to prompt scrutiny of construction oversight.
SOURCE SYNOPSIS	The Guardian with AP (12 NOV, read directly); AP, Washington Post, ABC7 New York, NBC New York (12 NOV, headlines/search excerpts); Fox News X posts.
MEDIA FRAMING (RIGHT)	Fox News posted rolling "BREAKING" death-toll updates without political framing.
MEDIA FRAMING (LEFT/MAINSTREAM)	Coverage was straight; the Guardian led with Mamdani's "extremely dangerous conditions" quote and the rescue effort.
CONFIDENCE	HIGH on the toll as of report time (likely to change). LOW on cause.

ITEM 10: Israel / Minnesota — Eisenkot Coalition Talks Continue After Canceled Likud Session; MN-1 Margin About 322–323 Ahead of 19 NOV Canvass

WHAT / WHERE / WHEN	Israel: after Gadi Eisenkot's Yashar! party canceled Wednesday's negotiating session with Likud over Netanyahu's Knesset speech, Ynet reported Netanyahu and Eisenkot will meet for the first time since the election (headline; date and time not confirmed). The Jerusalem Post reported that Yashar's Meridor said Haredi parties are welcome in government if they accept four principles, and that Netanyahu was convening the Security Cabinet while Eisenkot warned against an Iran war (headlines). Eisenkot has 28 days, extendable by 14, to form a government (Israel Hayom). Minnesota: Democrat Jake Johnson leads Rep. Brad Finstad by about 322 to 323 votes in the 1st District. Results are certified 19 NOV, after which Finstad must formally request his publicly funded recount within 48 hours (KSTP; KTTC; MPR, search excerpts). KTTC also reviewed the transition to Governor-elect Amy Klobuchar, including the coming appointment to her Senate seat.

US IMPACT ASSESSMENT	Israel's government may not be settled for weeks, which slows coordination on Iran and Lebanon. MN-1 has no effect on House control.
SOURCE SYNOPSIS	Ynet and Jerusalem Post (12 NOV, headlines/search excerpts); Israel Hayom (10 NOV); KSTP, KTTC, MPR (05–11 NOV, search excerpts).
MEDIA FRAMING (RIGHT)	No right-leaning Israel or MN-1 coverage surfaced in monitored feeds this period.
CONFIDENCE	MODERATE (headline-level reporting; MN-1 margin differs by one vote between sources).
